Senior Will

We, the Senior Class of 1955, leave as our last will and testament, the following:

The class, as a group wills to the various classes the following:

To the Juniors, Mr. Ellis, our class adviser.

To the Sophomores, our ambition.

To the Freshmen, our seriousness.

Individually, we leave as follows:

I, Leslie Larson, will my cigars that I never smoked to Al Larson, because he will probably smoke them. I will my basketball suit to Ned Lumpkin, because I know it's too big for him.

I, Helen Klug, will my position as office girl to my little sister, Alice, in hopes that she can get along with Mr. Coates as well as I. I will my gladness of being a senior to all lower classmen in hopes that they don't lose their way.

I, Duane Ilig, will my ability to get my absence excuses in on time to James Andrews. I will my ability to keep in school to Archie Wallace.

I, Jackie Leonard, will my office position to Edna Lindblom. I will my ability to hit home runs to Patty Griffin.

I, Tom Hainline, will my ability to evade band lessons to Ned Lumpkin. I will my ability to date and take out the girls to Daniel Boomgaarden.

I, Paul Garrison, will my half of the bench in the dressing room to Norman Larson because he always wanted it. I will my ability to get along with Mr. Coates to James Andrews, hoping he will make use of it.

I, Jane Ricard, will my worn out basketball suit to Roberta Zahm in hopes she will take care of it. I will my position as a C.H.S. cheer leader to Betty Leonard.

I, Roxie Lee Rose will my silliness and laughter to Betty Leonard, my ability to have fun in Columbia High to Linda, Edna, Esther, Iva May and Colleen M.

Prophecy

As I was on my summer vacation, I spent two or three days in my old home town, Burbank. It had changed tremendously. Tall skyscrapers and busy streets greeted me. The school building which was new in my senior days was now old and battered. The old high school on the Columbia River was still standing on its foundation. It's sight brought back memories. Anxious now to see my old classmates, I found their addresses and started out.

The first name on my list was Leslie Larson, our class president. Locating his home, I discovered he had become a famous engineer. His work was in demand all over the United States. Leslie also married his high school sweetheart, who always did have great faith in him.

Duane Ilg's name entered my mind. Although it wasn't until the bottom of my list, I couldn't wait to find out what became of him. To my astonishment Duane is a college graduate and has become a very good radio technician. While talking with Duane, he invited me to a party he was giving which our other classmates would attend. This was an excellent opportunity to find out their fate without running all over the country. Duane, discussing our classmates, informed me Tom Hainline had become a preacher. Tom did not attend parties because they were against his religion.

Later that evening at Duane's party, Jackie Leonard walked up to me. I hardly recognized her. The wishes she made in high school came true. She weighed about 115 pounds and had long brown hair. Jackie is a secretary for a big Walula firm and has a good looking boss.

Helen Klug arrived with Paul Garrison. Paul has become a dentist and has had regular customers, meaning old classmates. Helen is his dental nurse. She always said she wouldn't be a nurse but evidently changed her mind.

Joan Hardy also attended the party. She just returned from her home state of Ohio. Joan, always being of serious mind, has become an elementary teacher.

Roxie Rose was our last classmate to arrive. She was late because her flight on the Burbank Airlines was overdue. Roxie is a stewardess and is seeing the world.

As I, Jane Ricard, said good-bye to my friends, I realized my high school days were the best days of my life. Now I shall return to my job as owner and manager of an exclusive dress shop in Minnesota.

Senior History

In the year 1951 eleven freshmen, feeling small and scared, enrolled in Columbia High School. We were at the mercy of the mighty sophomores the day of our initiation. Entertaining the student body in our odd costumes was fun and embarrassing.

During our sophomore year, we lost eight members but increased again with the arrival of three new faces.

As juniors we gained three more classmates, making the total of nine. One member leaving later in the year decreased the class to eight. We gave a Junior Prom and school parties which were successful.

Through the four years, our class was very busy taking part in school activities. As juniors and also as seniors, several members in the class took part in the school plays. Tom Hainline and Leslie Larson were valuable players on the basketball and baseball teams. Leslie Larson was president of the student body and also the senior class. Helen Klug was assistant editor of the annual in her junior year and editor in her senior year. Jackie Leonard and Helen Klug were useful assets to Mr. Coates as office girls.

This year, we, as seniors, leave C. H. S. regretfully, yet contented.
